

Sovereign maintenance and repair

Hospitality and catering is key to enhancing the time passengers spend onboard a train or plane, and downtime of this service can negatively affect profits and damage the 'buy onboard' experience.

Sovereign has a trusted reputation for the maintenance, repair and service of all types of mobile equipment including trolleys, carts, refrigerated modules, water boilers and dispensing guns. We provide reliable and cost-effective maintenance contracts to many of the UK's major train operators, onboard catering companies and airlines, ensuring their hospitality and catering service runs smoothly and profitably. Our maintenance packages are tailored to suit your requirements, from a quick response to urgent repair, to regularly scheduled preventative maintenance.

Having equipment out of service can be costly but the Sovereign team can be relied upon to meet all deadlines and carry out instant repairs on-site. Working with the rail industry, our specialist engineers are experienced at in-depot maintenance and repair, and our capabilities include electrical and refrigeration repair, maintenance and safety testing. We provide off-site maintenance, service and repair to the whole of the UK from our centrally located Service Centre based in the West Midlands. Our experienced and fully trained engineers have access to a well-equipped workshop, supporting all types of trolley, cart, refrigerated module, water urn boiler and urn gun.

A Sovereign maintenance contract is a value-added service as your equipment is monitored using our internal maintenance database. We record data for the life of the trolley which enables us to analyse performance, monitor trends and identify fault patterns. By harnessing the power of this intelligence, real-time decisions can be made, and improvements implemented, helping clients to reduce costs and improve customer service.
